Library Science
Course Description

Course Description:

Library Science is an applied "Hands-on" course designed to introduce students to the workplace environment while performing duties in the library media center.
Students will help with front desk operations, help patrons access library information, and assist making the library's services and facilities readily available to the school community. Students will develop in-demand positive workforce assets such as customer service and leadership skills. Each year, a variety of computer applications will be used to design brochures, create infographics, and develop videos to promote library services. Second and third-year students will assist the librarian with developing and updating the library web page. At the end of the year, students will highlight relevant skills learned in class to complete a job application, cover letter, and resume.

This two-semester course can be used to fulfill one practical art credit.
