Rogersville Alumni and Community -

Do you remember the class composites that used to line the walls of the old high school? Have you ever wondered what happened to those class composites? Wouldn't you like to see your graduating class when you visit the high school?

We want to bring those photographs back into the high school where everyone can view them!

Here is the plan:

We plan to install 2 swinging photo panel display systems in the high school commons area. Each system will contain 60-80 senior class composites. We have approximately 75+ years of composites and photos ready to be displayed.

The total cost for this project is $9,690.02

The Logan-Rogersville Education Foundation has set up a special account for this project so that your gift is tax deductible.

Challenge from the Class of 2010!

Project Graduation for the class of 2010 is gifting this project $500.00 and challenging local businesses or families to match that contribution!!

This is what the system will look like when mounted on the wall in the high school commons area.
